

Morning Volunteer Assembly

Written by Tzu Chi Foundation
Saturday, 09 November 2013 11:57

Every morning at 7 AM, Dharma Master Cheng Yen hosts the Morning Volunteer Assembly in the Jing Si Abode, located in the rural outskirts of Hualien, Taiwan. With the help of modern satellite and internet technology, staff and volunteers in more than 50 countries serving in all the different missions of Tzu Chi can attend this assembly live. Master often says that she is deeply grateful to have all the volunteers working together with the same vision and all she can give them in return is Dharma.

In this daily video conference, Master reviews the latest world and Tzu Chi news and offers her insight into the underlying universal principles at play as evidenced by these events. She also wants to help the audience see clearly how Buddhism is helping our world by bringing back the pure love in people's hearts.

Her words of wisdom and deep compassion for all living beings inspire the audience to stay committed to their path of cultivation as well as make practical and real contributions to the world. Many staff and volunteers attend this daily assembly faithfully because it is where they find their life wisdom for daily living.

Words to Volunteers: A selection of teachings from the Morning Volunteer Assembly

- Feeling Young Again NEW
- In Memory of Mr. Chen Yo-peng
- Delivering Aid to Refugees with Compassion
- Healing Our Minds to Save the Earth
- Self-reflect and Repent to Mitigate Disasters
- Buddha Day: Repaying Kindness
- Wisdom from Typhoon Haiyan Disaster Relief
- Our World, a House on Fire
- Material vs. Spiritual Riches
- To Create a Cycle of Love
- What is Happening to Our World

Note

The Morning Volunteer Assembly talk is also edited into a 12-minute daily TV program on Da Ai TV called "Life Wisdom". The archive of the Life Wisdom programs, including the current daily broadcast, is available at: Life Wisdom

Morning Volunteer Assembly

Written by Tzu Chi Foundation
Saturday, 09 November 2013 11:57
